THE BRITISH NATIONAL BIBLIOGRAPHY
ANNUAL VOLUME
1957

The British National Bibliography is also published weekly giving in subject order the new publications of the week with an author and title list each week and, in the last issue of each month, a full index of authors, titles and subjects for the month. Cumulations are published every three, six, nine and twelve months, providing an up-to-date reference service for British books.

The value of this publication lies in its authority, in the full and accurate description of each book, prepared by expert bibliographers, and in the detailed subject indexing which not only enables the literature of a subject to be examined as a whole, but also facilitates the finding of books on the most specific subjects.

Seeing our shelves as others see them

Our mobile shelving is also quite a thing, especially for the restricted stores area. Standard shelving units are fitted with mobile bases. Any unit is easily moved sideways on steel rails providing access to units in rear. Number of gangways is thus reduced.

We could write volumes about our shelving, but find our customers praising it better than we can, and without blushing.

The great joy about R.O. shelving is its adaptability. Whatever space you have available R.O. shelving will make the most of it! You can have three-dimensional expansion—two storied if necessary—so that your shelves grow, as required, to the very limit of your space. Keeping you, in fact, always one shelf ahead! Rubery Owen advice on shelving is always available and we should welcome the opportunity of putting ourselves in your good books.

The measurement of colour

By W. D. WRIGHT

This book has been completely revised and reset for its second edition. It is the standard work on a subject of vast industrial importance, a subject that concerns every manufacturer of coloured products. Professor Wright has a particularly lucid style, and no man could be better qualified to explain the intricacies of the fundamental trichromatic system. The book is fully illustrated with line diagrams and plates, many of them in colour. Price 52s. net

Absorption spectrophotometry

By G. F. LOTHIAN

This too is a completely revised and reset second edition. It is concerned with the theory, instrumentation, and application of absorption spectrophotometry, which is now one of the principal methods of industrial analysis and process control. Indeed, there are few industries that do not employ spectrophotometers of some form or another in their laboratories. Mr Lothian, now a lecturer in physics at Exeter University, helped at one stage of his career to design several well-known instruments. Price 52s. net

Clinical biochemical methods

By A. TARNOKY

The author, who is Biochemist at the Royal Berkshire Hospital, Reading, has arranged his book for the convenience of the worker on the bench in the pathological laboratory. The tests—all that are commonly encountered in clinical practice—are arranged in semi-tabular form for quick reference. Price 50s. net is a non-profit-making organisation set up with the object of providing libraries and the book trade with comprehensive and authoritative catalogues of British publishing. Its governing body consists of representatives of all the principal organisations concerned with British books and publishing and since its establishment in 1950 its services have become known and valued the world over.

THE COUNCIL OF THE British National Bibliography Ltd.

Write for details of these important publications:

WEEKLY LISTS of new British books classified according to subjects by the Dewey Decimal Classification and indexed by authors, titles, series and other useful references.

QUARTERLY CUMULATIVE CATALOGUES which successively replace all the previous issues of the year, providing a single comprehensive reference volume by subjects, authors, titles, etc., of current British publishing.

ANNUAL VOLUMES of more than 1,000 pages and bound in cloth which provide a permanent guide to the publications of the year by subjects, authors, titles, etc.

CUMULATED SUBJECT CATALOGUE 1951-54 in two volumes of about 1,400 pages each providing a detailed subject guide to British publishing of those years, replacing the separate Annual Volumes now out of print. Ready Autumn 1958.

FIVE-YEAR CUMULATED INDEX 1950-54 of 1,150 pages, giving in one alphabetical sequence all the information contained in the indexes to the five separate Annual Volumes and providing the key to the Cumulated Subject Catalogue.

THE BRITISH CATALOGUE OF MUSIC which provides classified lists of new music with index entries in one alphabetical sequence of composers, arrangers, editors, authors of words, etc. The first catalogue of British music of its kind and the most comprehensive.

PRINTED CATALOGUE CARDS giving printed entries on standard 12.5 cm. × 7.5 cm. cards of all current British books and music. A speedy and economical service.

PREFACE

The objects of the British National Bibliography are to list every new work published in Great Britain, to describe each work in detail and to give the subject matter of each work as precisely as possible. The work is carried out at the British Museum, where copies of all new books must be deposited by law. It is done by a team of fully qualified bibliographers with the resources of the British Museum at its disposal and every endeavour is made to ensure the accuracy of the information given.

A few classes of publications are intentionally excluded, they are:

- (a) Cheap novelettes
- (b) Periodicals (except that the first issue of a new periodical and the first issue of a periodical under a new title are included)
- (c) Music (listed separately in the British Catalogue of Music published quarterly)
- (d) Maps
- (e) Certain Government publications†

Hints for tracing information

This bibliography is in two sections: in the first, or Subject Section, the entries are arranged according to a system of subject classification; in the second the entries are arranged alphabetically. The fullest information about a book is given in the Subject Section including the fullest form of an author's name, the full title, the number of pages, the kind of illustrations, the size and the series as well as the edition, publisher, price and date of publication. A shorter entry is given in the Alphabetical Section under the name of the author, including a short title, edition, publisher and price as well as the name of the editor or translator, if there is one.

†A large selection of Government publications is included, but the following categories of less general interest are not:

Parliamentary Papers.

House of Lords Papers and Bills; House of Commons Bills; House of Commons papers (except Civil and Military estimates, Civil appropriation accounts, Reports and accounts of nationalised industries and undertakings, and Reports of consultative committees); such Command Papers as International agreements of limited interest, Diplomatic exchanges of notes and Diplomatic conventions, Protocols, Treasury minutes and drafts, frequent periodic statements such as Housing returns; Explanatory memoranda such as those on hydro-electric schemes; Local acts; Private acts; and Church Assembly measures.

Non-Parliamentary Papers.

Such routine administrative publications as: Accounts of specific funds; Amendment lists; Appeals, Awards; Circulars; Decisions of Commissioners of the Ministry of Pensions and National Insurance; Examination papers; Forms; Licences; Memoranda; Minutes of evidence; Notices; Orders; Proceedings and decisions of tribunals; Regulations; Returns; Specifications; Tax case reports; and Warrants.

Author

When the author of a book is known look under his name in the Alphabetical Section. The information given here will be adequate for most purposes. If, on the other hand, the fullest information about a book is required, turn to the entry in the Subject Section. This is easily found from the reference number at the end of the author entry. This reference number has two parts. The first is the part to be noted and is read as a decimal number. Thus, for example, the number 621 will be found after the number 598.2942 and before the number 621.384. A very short acquaintance will make the order of the reference numbers simple to follow. A few signs are also used whose order will become familiar. They are the colon (:), a stroke (/) and square brackets ([]). Thus 621 : 620 will be found immediately after 621 and before 621.0; 613/614 will be found before 613; and 621.[1] will be found after 621.0 and before 621.1. The second part of the reference number—the number in round brackets beginning (B57-)—is the book's serial number. Serial numbers identify every British publication recorded in the British National Bibliography.

In the case of compilations of works by several authors, the entry in the Alphabetical Section may be found under the editor or compiler. Sometimes entries are made under the names of countries and cities which are considered to be the authors of their official publications. Transactions, reports and journals of societies are entered under the name of the society, and anonymous works, periodicals and some year books under the first word of the title which is not an article.

Title, Series, Editors and Translators

Entries are made in the Alphabetical Section under the titles of all works, so that if you do not know the author of a work it can be found by looking up its title in the Alphabetical Section.

If you do not know the author or the title, it may still be possible to trace the work if the name of its editor or translator or series is known.

Subject

One of the most important aspects of this bibliography is its exhaustive index to the subject matter of books. The Subject Section itself displays the works on a subject in such a way that the whole field of literature on a subject can be easily perused. The Alphabetical Section lists all the subjects found in the Subject Section and shows by means of the code number where books on those subjects are listed in the Subject Section. For example, in the Alphabetical Section under the word Africa will be found a full list of the places in the Subject Section where books in any way concerned with Africa may be found, thus:

Africa	916
Africa: Agriculture	630.96
Africa: Animals	591.96
Africa: Anthropology	572.96
Africa: Big game hunting	799.26096
Africa: British colonies	325.342096
Africa: Cocoa: Marketing: Economics	338.17374[1]
Africa: Education	370.96
Africa: Fertilisers: Agriculture	631.8196
Africa: History	960
and so on

If you turn to the number 960 (which is the decimal code number given against the entry Africa: History) you will find a list of books dealing with the history of Africa and of the individual territories which comprise it.

Explanation of abbreviations

In order that the fullest description of each book may be given concisely in the Subject Section certain abbreviations and conventions have been used. The chief of these are given below and it will be found that, if they are understood, a very precise picture of a work can be formulated, and its suitability to a special need satisfactorily assessed.

Author

The name of the author, which appears at the head of each entry, is not repeated after the title of the book. (In exceptional cases where it differs seriously from the name at the head it is repeated.)

Publisher and Place of Publication

The place of publication is always given before the name of the publisher thus:

Readiness for school beginners. London, Harrap.

Where there are two publishers they are shown thus:

The College Board: its first fifty years. New York, Columbia U.P.; London, Oxford U.P.

Prices

Prices given are those current at the time of the appearance of an entry in the Weekly List. Prices marked with an asterisk are converted from foreign currencies and may be subject to an additional charge for importing.

Date of Publication

Every effort is made to ascertain the exact month and year of publication of a work and when ascertained they are shown thus:

Mar 1957.

If the precise date of publication cannot be ascertained the following conventions are used:

Mar [1957] the month and year of publication have been supplied by the publisher but the year does not appear in the imprint of the book itself.

[^dMar] 1957 the month of publication has not been supplied by the publisher but the year of publication appears in the imprint of the book itself. [^dMar] means deposited in the British Museum in March.

[^dMar 1957] neither the month nor year of publication has been supplied by the publisher and the year of publication does not appear in the imprint of the book itself. [^dMar 1957] means deposited in the British Museum in March, 1957.

1956 [i.e. Mar 1957] means that the book bears the date 1956 in its imprint but was actually published in March 1957.

[c.U.S. 1957] means that the book bears no date in its imprint but was copyrighted in the United States in 1957.

Collation

The collation is that part of the entry which describes the physical make-up of the book and is in italic type at the end of the entry. The abbreviations used are:

v.	volumes.
p.	pages. The preliminary pages, if they are separately numbered, are shown separately. For example, vii,222 p. means seven preliminary pages numbered with roman numerals and two hundred and twenty-two pages of text.
front.	frontispiece.
front.(port.).	frontispiece which is a portrait.
illus.	illustrations in the text.
col.illus.	coloured illustrations in the text.
plates	illustrations independent of the text and generally on art paper.
facsim.	facsimile reproductions.
diagrs.	diagrams.
bibliog.	list of books or references used by the author or recommended by him for further study.
cm.	centimetres—used to give the height of a book.
Sd.	sewed, i.e. paper covers.
Pb.	paper boards.
Lp.	limp covers.

Where no indication is given as to the kind of binding it is taken to be cloth boards.

For example, the following entry :

BRYSON, Thomas

Mining machinery: an elementary treatise on the generation, transmission, and utilization of power for candidates for the under-manager's certificate. 3rd ed. London, Pitman, 35/- Jan 1953. xii, 508p. illus., tables, diagrs., bibliog. 22½cm. (B53-549)

Includes new material on coal-face machinery & locomotive transport. Previous ed. 1944.

means

Mining machinery: an elementary treatise on the generation, transmission, and utilization of power for candidates for the under-manager's certificate by Thomas Bryson, now in its 3rd edition. Published in London by Pitman at 35/- in January 1953. It has twelve preliminary pages and 508 pages of text. It has illustrations, tables and diagrams in the text and a bibliography. It is 22½ centimetres high, i.e. demy octavo, and bound in cloth boards (no other kind of binding being specified). It includes new material on coal-face machinery and locomotive transport and was last revised in 1944. Its serial number in the British National Bibliography is B53-549.

The Tranquil Gardener

ROBERT GATHORNE-HARDY

illustrated by JOHN NASH

Robert Gathorne-Hardy has been an amateur gardener for as long as he can remember. In this book he describes three gardens with which he has been intimately connected. The author is also a plant collector, and most of the plants in his garden he has brought back from his wanderings abroad, especially in the Alps and the Pyrenees. The text is superbly complemented by Mr. John Nash's fine illustrations. 4 colour plates, 22 full-page and 6 half-page line drawings.

Farming Weather

LIONEL P. SMITH

This book aims to help the farmer to understand the weather and its effects—to gain better guidance from his own experience and improve his judgment. Its intention is not to tell him what to do, but to enable him to think more clearly on a subject so vital to his work. The author, whose style is light-handed and sparkling, was Head of the Agricultural Branch of the British Meteorological Office 1949-57. 8 half-tone plates and 34 text diagrams.

Greeks

MICHAEL GRANT and DON POTTINGER

An unusual book of universal interest—at once a scholarly account of the Ancient Greeks, terse and accurate, and also a delightful volume elegantly produced—a pleasure to read and handle. The abundant illustrations in two colours are by Don Pottinger whose witty adornments to the text will need no introduction to admirers of Simple Heraldry, Simple Custom and Blood Royal. This book will convey to readers of every age much more about our present-day debt to Hellenic culture than do many heavier and more portentous volumes. Richly illustrated.

THE BRITISH NATIONAL BIBLIOGRAPHY

CLASSIFIED SUBJECT SECTION

Subjects in this Section are coded and arranged according to the Dewey Decimal Classification. The key to the code is in the Alphabetical Section at the end of the volume. To find a complete list of books published in 1957 on any subject, first find the code number for the subject by referring to the Alphabetical Section.

To find details of a book of which the author, title, or any similar fact is known, refer to the Alphabetical Section.

An explanation of the abbreviations used in describing books in this Bibliography and further details for tracing information are given in the Preface.

Five decimal logarithmic trigonometric tables: natural trigonometric functions including secant and cosecant; squares, cubes, square roots, etc.; areas, circumferences of circles for diameters to 200 by one eighths. 4th ed. extended by E. R. Smoley and N. G. Smoley. Chataqua (N.Y.), Smoley; [London, Technical P.], 12/-. [dOct] 1956. [5],193p. tables, diags. 18½cm. (B57-869)

Previous ed. 1920. Present ed. also available bound with Parallel tables of logarithms and squares, 50/-. and in Smoley's Three combined tables, 84/-. and in Smoley's Four combined tables, £5.

Parallel tables of slopes and rises for bridge and structural engineers, draftsmen, checkers, templet makers, builders and vocational schools. 2nd ed. extended by E. R. Smoley and N. G. Smoley. Chataqua (N.Y.), Smoley; [London, Technical P.], 50/-. [dOct] 1956. [529]p. tables, diags. 18½cm. (B57-868)

Various paging. Previous ed. 1916. Present ed. also available in Smoley's Three combined tables, 84/-. and in Smoley's Four combined tables, £5.

Segmental functions: text and tables, giving simple methods of solving a circular segment, and of compiling its area, when the segment is given with 2 of its 5 parts, viz.—the arc, the chord, the radius, the central angle and the height, with numerous examples illustrating the application of these methods. 2nd ed. extended by E. R. Smoley and N. G. Smoley. Chataqua (N.Y.), Smoley; [London, Technical P.], 40/-. [dOct] 1956. [444]p. tables, diags. 18½cm. (B57-870)

Various paging. Previous ed. 1937. Present ed. also available in Smoley's Four combined tables. £5.

The Aleut dentition: a correlative study of dental characteristics in an Eskimoid people. Cambridge (Mass.), Harvard U.P.; London, Oxford U.P., 36/-. Sep 1957. xi,196p. illus. (incl.ports.), maps, tables, diags., bibliog. 24cm. (B57-13388)

574—BIOLOGY

Subdivided as follows:

574—General works

574.1—Physiological biology

574.19—Biochemistry

574.2—Diseases

574.5—Ecology

574.87—Cells

574.94/9—Natural history of special localities

575—Evolution

576—Microbiology

578—Microscopy

580—Botany

590—Zoology

Biology. General Works—cont.

COOKE, Herbert John, and others

Biology: a textbook for first examinations, by H. J. Cooke, K. F. P. Burkiitt and W. B. Barker. 2nd ed. London, Longmans, Green, 14/-. Sep 1957. viii,480p. 9plates, tables, diags. 20½cm. (B57-18897)

Previous ed. 1949.

A COURSE in nature study. Book 3: Living things; drawn by T. Ritchie, written by M. Alice Gibbs. London, Chatto & Windus. (Open your eyes books).

Part 1: How they begin and grow. 2/6. 1953. 32p. illus.(some col.). 23cm. Lp. (B57-12328)

Part 2: How they move. 2/6. 1953. 32p. illus.(some col.). 23cm. Lp. (B57-12329)

Part 3: How they breathe and feed. 2/6. 1953. 32p. illus.(some col.). 23cm. Lp. (B57-12330)

574—Biology. General Works

ARCHER, Edward Thomas Stuart

A second school biology. London, University Tutorial P., 8/6. Jan 1957. viii,348p. front., illus., 4plates, diags. 19cm. (B57-1837)

Biology. General Works—cont.

CROSSLAND, Richard Walker

'O' level tests in biology. London, Methuen, 4/6. Dec 1957. viii,76p. diags. 18½cm. Lp. (B57-18898)

DARWIN, Charles [Robert]

The Darwin reader; edited by Marston Bates and Philip S. Humphrey. London, Macmillan, 30/-. Oct 1957. ix,481p. front., illus., diags., bibliog. 22½cm. (B57-16689)
Originally published, New York, Scribner, 1956.

FISHER, Arthur Stanley Theodore

The story of life; illustrated by F. T. W. Cook. Oxford, Blackwell, 7/-. Nov [1957]. 4v. illus.(some col.). 20cm. Sd. (B57-17186)

For children.

Book 1: Growing & moving. 1/9. 17p.—Book 2: Breathing. 1/9. 17p.—Book 3: Feeding. 1/9. 17p.—Book 4: The senses. 1/9. 17p.
Also available separately.

HARVEY, Charles, and WHITE, [John] David [Burgan], (b.Oct 1919), editors

The young explorer's world of nature. London, Sampson Low, Marston, 10/6. Oct [1957]. 3-110p. illus.(some col.). 28cm. (B57-16199)

Illus. on endpapers.

HUXLEY, Julian [Sorell]

New bottles for new wine: essays. London, Chatto & Windus, 21/-. Nov 1957. 318p. 8plates, maps, table, diags. 22½cm. (B57-16690)

Subsidiary subject: 901—Civilization.

JEPSON, [Mary Winifred] Maud

Illustrated biology. London, J. Murray.

Part 1: Plants. 2nd ed. 6/-. Jun 1957. 56p. illus. 29cm. Sd. (B57-11979)

Previous ed. 1955 (B55-2858).
